NEW STATE POLICE FORCE BILL INTRODUCED

CONTROVERSIAL QUESTION IN LEGISLATURE

SPONSORED BY SENATORS SULLIVAN, ST. CLOUD, BLANCHARD AND BONNIWELL

STATE POLICE WOULD HAVE SAME POWER AS POLICE OFFICERS

St. Paul, Jan. 26.—(UP)—One of the principal controversial questions upon which the Minnesota legislature will act was injected into the senate today when the bill providing for the establishment of a state police force was introduced by Senators J. D. Sullivan, St. Cloud, W. A. Blanchard, Anoka, and H. H. Bonniwell, Hutchinson.

Fifty-one bills, a record number for the 1927 session of the legislature, were introduced during the day.

The state constabulary, to be known as the Minnesota state police, would comprise a superintendent, assistant superintendent, and one troop, consisting of one captain, two lieutenants, four sergeants, eight corporals and 35 privates.

The appointment of the superintendent would be made by the governor and the position would pay $5,000 a year. The assistant superintendent, also appointed by the governor, would be paid $3,500. All other members of the organization would be appointed by the superintendent.

The state police, under the terms of the bill, would have the same power as police officers and would co-operate with local authorities. The force, however, would be forbidden to enter upon duty for the purpose of policing a strike except by orders from the governor or on the request of mayors of cities, or sheriffs of counties.

Among other bills introduced was one by Sen. G. H. Sullivan, Stillwater, providing for raising the tax rate paid by the state into the teachers' retirement fund from one twentieth of one mill to one half of one mill. It increases the present graduated scale of assessments, the maximum being $40 paid by the teachers to a $65 assessment paid by all.

Senator Sullivan also presented a concurrent resolution memorializing congress to abolish federal estate taxes, better known as the state inheritance tax, in times of peace because of the confusion which exists between this and the government inheritance tax.

Senator George Lommen, Biwabik, introduced a bill providing that the regulation of passenger busses which operate only in one state be taken out of the hands of the state railroad and warehouse commission and put under the jurisdiction of the cities and counties in which they operate. These cities are to fix the rates which heretofore have been fixed by the state commission.

35 BILLS AND RESOLUTIONS IN HOUSE

St. Paul, Jan. 26.—Thirty-five measures and resolutions were submitted to the house of representatives Tuesday while the budget request of the state board of control reached the appropriations committee.

C. M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, appeared before the house public highway committee with a request for a 3-cent tax on gasoline. One third of the revenue derived from the tax would be diverted to counties and towns in 1931, the commissioner said.

Rep. Andrew Finstuen, Kenyon, submitted a measure calling for the repeal of the teachers' pension law and the redistribution of $1,280,000 collected, back to the teachers.

Laws governing payment of personal taxes would be changed by a bill offered by Rep. Gustaf Widell, Mankato. By the measure there would be created a graduated scale of penalty after March 1, starting with 5 per cent and adding 1 per cent a month up to August 1.

Rep. R. J. Quinlivan, St. Cloud, was one of a group of authors to a bill limiting the levying and expenditure of taxes for the year 1927 and each year thereafter.

Rep. O. W. Kolshorn, Red Wing, submitted a measure which would amend the laws relating to state aid to assist in establishing minimum education standards.

The house unanimously adopted a resolution which calls for a recess during the session of Feb. 2, in honor of the memory of the late Senator Knute Nelson, Minnesota. Nelson would have celebrated his eighty-fourth birthday this year.

PRINCE OF WALES INVADES SLUMS AS FIGHT FAN

London, Jan. 26.—(UP)—The Prince of Wales invaded the slums again, this time as a fight fan, and almost broke up the affair when the crowd of fans recognized him.

Smoking a pipe and thoroughly keen on the battle, the prince sat near the ringside last night among workmen and their wives.

Later the prince visited lodging houses, mixing freely with hoboes and other down and outers.

CHAPLIN'S WIFE IS DELAYED IN GETTING ALIMONY

WILL NOT SEE A CENT UNTIL AFTER FEBRUARY 1, AT LEAST

COURT HEARING SET THAT DATE BY REQUEST OF COMEDIAN'S ATTORNEYS

Los Angeles, Jan. 26.—(UP)—Mrs. Lita Grey Chaplin, estranged wife of the famous screen comedian, will not get any alimony until after February 1, at least.

The district court of appeals late yesterday issued orders to the two receivers of Chaplin's property, restraining them from paying Mrs. Chaplin a cent of her husbands' millions until after a court hearing February 1.

The court set the hearing at request of Chaplin's attorneys, who filed a petition seeking to set aside the $4,000 a month temporary alimony granted Mrs. Chaplin pending outcome of her sensational divorce suit.

The comedian's counsel also attacked the action of the superior court in appointing receivers for Chaplin's property. The petition alleged the receivership was granted without proper hearing or legal notice.

Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 26.—Charles Spencer Chaplin and his inimitable clowning has been banned from the screen indefinitely by this city, almost within hearing of the grinding cameras of the film colony, it was announced today.

The step was taken by the Pasadena board of censors, taking a negative view of the comedian's moral standing as the result of the sensational divorce complaint filed by the comedian's wife. The ban will become effective until further notice, the board announced in a formal statement.

ESCAPED CONVICT IS FOUND HIDING IN THE BRUSH

HUGH BAUGHART'S FREEDOM FROM ATLANTA PRISON IS SHORT LIVED

PRISON GUARDS COMBING VICINITY FOR OTHER TWO ESCAPED PRISONERS

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 26.—(UP)—Hugh Baughart, of Detroit, Mich., one of the three prisoners who escaped from the federal penitentiary here last night, was captured shortly after 8 A. M. today.

Baughart, hiding in some brush near the Soldiers' Home, two miles from the prison, was captured without struggle by Capt. John M. Martin, in charge of the evening watch at the penitentiary.

Prison guards continued to comb the vicinity of the home for the two other convicts.

The escape—the first since 1923, when "Dutch" Anderson and three other prisoners tunneled beneath the prison wall to safety—was enacted simply.

It occurred at "school hour." The bar of a cell block window, evidently previously filed through, was pulled from its socket and the trio leaped twenty feet to the illuminated space outside the walls.

The three, in prison grey, zigzagged their way past the guard houses in a rain of shotgun fire. One of the three was believed hit.

The other men at liberty are: Albert Rosenberg, 31, of New York, serving a ten year sentence for breaking into a Trenton, N. J., postoffice, and Frank McGoldrick, 40, of New York, serving a sentence of three years for stealing an automobile.

Rev. J. Frank Norris Acquitted of Murder Of Rich Lumberman

Austin, Tex., Jan. 26.—(UP)—"I knew the verdict could only be freedom."

That was the only comment the Rev. J. Frank Norris, Fort Worth fundamentalist preacher who was acquitted Tuesday of the murder of Dexter E. Chippis, would give concerning the verdict.

Dr. Norris left the court room with his wife and two little sons immediately after the verdict had been read and was followed by a throng of friends who wished to shake his hand and congratulate him on the outcome of the trial which had attracted nation-wide attention.

Attorneys for Dr. Norris issued a statement which said in part:

"We wish to state that the verdict, rendered upon the first ballot by the jury, was not a lawyer's victory, but a conscientious finding of the jury upon the facts adduced in evidence."

DETERMINED DEFENSE OF CITY IS TO BE MADE

NEUTRAL AREA EXTENDS ABOUT FIVE MILES AROUND SHANGHAI

ALL ROADS AND RAILWAYS COMMANDED BY ARTILLERY AND MACHINE GUNS

By CAL S. HIRSCH

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Shanghai, Jan. 26.—Fearing that the victorious Cantonese army might threaten Shanghai, authorities in both the international and French settlements today hastened the completion of barbed wire entanglements virtually encircling the city.

Foreign authorities were concentrating all forces for a determined defense of the city. Defense plans included the creation of a neutral area extending approximately five miles around the city. All roads and railways will be commanded by artillery and machine guns.

Japanese flotilla of destroyers arrived yesterday afternoon to augment the naval forces already in the harbor.

The heavy guns of the warships riding in the Wing Fo river, facing the city, have been trained on all railway stations.

The French landed 300 troops who had been stationed at Annam, Indo-China, to defend the French settlement. Officials of the international settlement commandeered warehouses to be used as barracks for the Punjab battalion expected late today.

Further anxiety was caused today by the cutting of the Shanghai-Hankow telegraph line which indicated that Marshal Sun Chuan Fang, defender of Shanghai, had been defeated by the Cantonese in Chekiang province. If that were true, it would bring the civil war nearer to this city. The Shanghai arsenal Tuesday shipped a large consignment of munitions to Nanking, which it was presumed presaged a Cantonese offensive down the Yangtze from Kiangling.

General Chang Hsueh-Lian, 25-year-old son of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, who is the most powerful of the northern Chinese militarists, suggested in a press interview that the north and south would combine against Great Britain. His father said something of the same sort several days ago, but it was interpreted more as a defense against possible charges of a lack of patriotism than as indicative of any intention to align with the Cantonese against the British.

"Britain seems to think," said young Chuan, "that by holding China's throat she can prevent China from breathing. But, if there is more ill-treatment, the British will find the north and south united against foreigners."

The defenses and barricades around the foreign settlements today consisted of parallel, closely strung fences from six to eight feet high. The space between the parallel strands of wire were filled with coiled wire such as was used on the western front during the war. French authorities have completed erection of heavy iron grill gates twelve feet high which would isolate the concession from native areas.

Vigorous British military and naval forces in Chinese waters have caused native business to slump precipitately. Municipal debentures dropped from about parity to eight points below. Shares of Chinese companies have dropped proportionately.

Despite settlement of the street car strike, the cars were not being patronized normally today because of the fear of stone throwers who find the cars good targets. The omnibus strike continued today and the strike of rice shop employees, which began yesterday, was bound to affect the local food situation if it continued.

SAYS HE'S MARRIED 50 YEARS, OUGHT TO GET REWARD

Washington, Jan. 26.—(UP)—Believing that a man married 50 years should receive some reward from the government, E. D. Howe, Weedsport, N. Y., has asked Rep. Tabor, republican, New York, to secure passage of a bill granting him a pension.

"I have a letter you wrote me soon after you were elected assemblyman," Howe wrote, "saying that you would aid me in any way that you could and now is your chance." He said his health was failing rapidly.

Tabor informed Howe his case was one to be taken up with a state senator or assemblyman. He congratulated Howe on his long married life.

EDITH DAY GRANTED DIVORCE AT MINNEAPOLIS

CAN CONTINUE HER STAGE CAREER, FREE FROM MARRIAGE FETTERS

WM. M. NASH, HER UNCLE, ACTED AS HER ATTORNEY IN MATTER

Minneapolis, Jan. 26.—(UP)—A cablegram to London today told Edith Day that she could continue her stage career, free from the fetters of marriage.

Miss Day, "the bright little girl" of "Irene," "Rose Marie" and "Orange Blossom" was granted a divorce from Pat Somerset, English actor, who is now at Hollywood, by Judge Thomas H. Salmon late Tuesday. Judge Salmon held court after hours because the case was not reached earlier.

William M. Nash, Miss Day's uncle, acted as her attorney and introduced a deposition taken in London where the actress is appearing at the Drury Lane theatre in "Rose Marie."

There were only two witnesses, Mrs. Oscar Day, Miss Day's mother, and Edward K. King, of New York, real estate broker, who corroborated the deposition.

Somerset did not contest the action and Judge Salmon awarded the custody of the five-year-old son to Mrs. Day. The son has been in the care of the grandmother since the Somersets separated in 1924.

Miss Day charged Somerset with habitual drunkenness, cruelty, intimacy with other women and failure to provide for her support.

Canton, Jan. 26.—A triumphant conclusion of the Chinese nationalist advance rather than anti-foreign demonstrations will mark the inevitable capture of Shanghai by the Chinese forces, a statement from the Cantonese foreign office said.

"When the day of triumph comes," the statement read, "we will enter Shanghai not as mere conquerors, but as administrators and conservers of the work done there by foreign nationals."

"The national government is not anti-foreign, although the great mass of Chinese nationalists from whom it derives power and superiority are anti-imperialists."

"Our attitude toward the United States is one of friendliness even though for historical and economic reasons the United States has been party to unequal treaties, despite its good intentions, and has sometimes been misled into actions which were inconsistent with the real interests of American nationals."

EQUALIZATION FEE CAUSES SOME ARGUMENT

CHIEF OBJECTION RAISED TO REVISED McNARY HAUGEN BILL

SENATOR McNARY SAID HE IS NOT A PARTY TO CHANGE MADE

By THOMAS L. STOKES

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Jan. 26.—Farm relief leaders are considering a compromise farm relief plan whereby the equalization fee of the McNary-Haugen bill would not be applied for a definite period, either one or two years. This is advanced in order to speed up action, as the equalization fee is the chief objection raised by opponents of the measure.

Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, chairman of the senate agriculture committee, said he is not a party to this compromise and had not agreed to it, but will wait for developments before he decides definitely on it. Further compromises may be necessary, he feels, but now he is of the opinion that the bill should stand as written.

McNary announced today he would seek to bring the bill up in the senate for consideration next week.

The McNary-Haugen bill will be taken up in the house next week, the rules committee decided today. By that time, Chairman Snell announced the pending appropriation bill will be out of the way.

The plan for postponement of the equalization fee is a move to draw additional support, particularly aimed at southern democrats, most of whom now oppose the measure because of the equalization fee on cotton, one of the crops whose surplus would be handled under the bill. The others are wheat, corn, rice and hogs.

McNary pointed out, however, that only a few southern democrats supported the bill last session despite withholding of the equalization fee for three years. There is another prospective lure for southern votes—elimination of the fee on cotton and subscription of the so-called Bledsoe plan for insurance against low cotton prices.

Under this plan, the producer would pay one dollar insurance on his cotton and carrying charge, amounting or seven or eight dollars through a revolving fund of $50,000,000, the government would act as a huge insurance company. The cotton co-operatives would handle the crop, withholding it from the market and selling when conditions were best. The farmer would be guaranteed the spot price of the day he turned his cotton over to the association. Advocates of the plan say that the government would make money over a period of years.

McNary opposes this plan because it lacks compulsion. He pointed out that only eight per cent of cotton growers are in co-operative associations.

Washington, Jan. 26.—(UP)—Seven Washington debutantes, who say they neither smoke nor drink, were cited to the W. C. T. U., by Mrs. Ella A. Boole, national president, to show that girls can be popular without drinking or asking for a cigarette.

The seven girls, dressed in white and blue-ribbon badges, act as pages and messengers at the convention here. They are: Helen Gately, Fanny Dial, Sally Phillips, Olive Shirley, Harriet Whitford, Anna S. Lerner and Lucy Lerner.

DETERMINED DEFENSE OF CITY IS TO BE MADE

NEUTRAL AREA EXTENDS ABOUT FIVE MILES AROUND SHANGHAI

ALL ROADS AND RAILWAYS COMMANDED BY ARTILLERY AND MACHINE GUNS

By CAL S. HIRSCH (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Shanghai, Jan. 26.—Fearing that the victorious Cantonese army might threaten Shanghai, authorities in both the international and French settlements today hastened the completion of barbed wire entanglements virtually encircling the city.

Foreign authorities were concentrating all forces for a determined defense of the city. Defense plans included the creation of a neutral area extending approximately five miles around the city. All roads and railways will be commanded by artillery and machine guns.

Japanese flotilla of destroyers arrived yesterday afternoon to augment the naval forces already in the harbor.

The heavy guns of the warships riding in the Wing Fo river, facing the city, have been trained on all railway stations.

The French landed 300 troops who had been stationed at Annam, Indo-China, to defend the French settlement. Officials of the international settlement commandeered warehouses to be used as barracks for the Punjab battalion expected late today.

Further anxiety was caused today by the cutting of the Shanghai-Hankow telegraph line which indicated that Marshal Sun Chuan Fang, defender of Shanghai, had been defeated by the Cantonese in Chekiang province. If that were true, it would bring the civil war nearer to this city. The Shanghai arsenal Tuesday shipped a large consignment of munitions to Nanking, which it was presumed presaged a Cantonese offensive down the Yangtze from Kiang.

General Chang Hsueh-Lian, 25-year-old son of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, who is the most powerful of the northern Chinese militarists, suggested in a press interview that the north and south would combine against Great Britain. His father said something of the same sort several days ago, but it was interpreted more as a defense against possible charges of a lack of patriotism than as indicative of any intention to align with the Cantonese against the British.

"Britain seems to think," said young Chuan, "that by holding China's throat she can prevent China from breathing. But, if there is more ill-treatment, the British will find the north and south united against foreigners."

The defenses and barricades around the foreign settlements today consisted of parallel, closely strung fences from six to eight feet high. The space between the parallel strands of wire were filled with coiled wire such as was used on the western front during the war. French authorities have completed erection of heavy iron grill gates twelve feet high which would isolate the concession from native areas.

Vigorous British movements to reinforce the British military and naval forces in Chinese waters have caused native business to slump precipitately. Municipal debentures dropped from about parity to eight points below. Shares of Chinese companies have dropped proportionately.

Despite settlement of the street car strike, the cars were not being patronized normally today because of the fear of stone throwers who find the cars good targets. The omnibus strike continued today and the strike of rice shop employees, which began yesterday, was bound to affect the local food situation if it continued.

Hongkong, Jan. 26.—Four hundred Americans are evacuating the Foochow area because of widespread rioting and looting by Cantonese.

SAYS HE'S MARRIED 50 YEARS, OUGHT TO GET REWARD

Washington, Jan. 26.—(UP)—Believing that a man married 50 years should receive some reward from the government, E. D. Howe, Weedsport, N. Y., has asked Rep. Tabor, republican, New York, to secure passage of a bill granting him a pension.

"I have a letter you wrote me soon after you were elected assemblyman," Howe wrote, "saying that you would aid me in any way that you could and now is your chance." He said his health was failing rapidly.

Tabor informed Howe his case was one to be taken up with a state senator or assemblyman. He congratulated Howe on his long married life.

EDITH DAY GRANTED DIVORCE AT MINNEAPOLIS

CAN CONTINUE HER STAGE CAREER, FREE FROM MARRIAGE FETTERS

WM. M. NASH, HER UNCLE, ACTED AS HER ATTORNEY IN MATTER

Minneapolis, Jan. 26.—(UP)—A cablegram to London today told Edith Day that she could continue her stage career, free from the fetters of marriage.

Miss Day, "the bright little girl" of "Trene," "Rose Marie" and "Orange Blossoms" was granted a divorce from Pat Somerset, English actor, who is now at Hollywood, by Judge Thomas H. Salmon late Tuesday. Judge Salmon held court after hours because the case was not reached earlier.

William M. Nash, Miss Day's uncle, acted as her attorney and introduced a deposition taken in London where the actress is appearing at the Drury Lane theatre in "Rose Marie."

There were only two witnesses, Mrs. Oscar Day, Miss Day's mother, and Edward K. King, of New York, real estate broker, who corroborated the deposition.

Somerset did not contest the action and Judge Salmon awarded the custody of the five-year-old son to Mrs. Day. The son has been in the care of the grandmother since the Somersets separated in 1924.

Miss Day charged Somerset with habitual drunkenness, cruelty, intimacy with other women and failure to provide for her support.

troops, it was reported by refugees who arrived here today from Foochow.

Dr. T. C. Coole, of Chicago, who was one of the refugees, said the recent disturbances were the result of a preconceived plan by the communist wing of the Kuomintang.

Canton, Jan. 26.—A triumphant conclusion of the Chinese nationalist advance rather than anti-foreign demonstrations will mark the inevitable capture of Shanghai by the Chinese forces, a statement from the Cantonese foreign office said.

"When the day of triumph comes," the statement read, "we will enter Shanghai not as mere conquerors, but as administrators and conservers of the work done there by foreign nationals."

"The national government is not anti-foreign, although the great mass of Chinese nationalists from whom it derives power and superiority are anti-imperialists."

"Our attitude toward the United States is one of friendliness even though for historical and economic reasons the United States has been party to unequal treaties, despite its good intentions, and has sometimes been misled into actions which were inconsistent with the real interests of American nationals."

Melbourne, Australia, Jan. 26.—The cabinet decided today there was no necessity for the commonwealth to act on the situation in China. It was disclosed that Great Britain had not asked Australian assistance.

Shanghai, Jan. 26.—Marshal Sun Chuan Fang, defender of Shanghai, today was engaged in a losing battle with the Cantonese nationalist troops south of Hang Chow. Hang Chow, the principal trading

EQUALIZATION FEE CAUSES SOME ARGUMENT

CHIEF OBJECTION RAISED TO REVISED McNARY HAUGEN BILL

SENATOR McNARY SAID HE IS NOT A PARTY TO CHANGE MADE

By THOMAS L. STOKES (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, Jan. 26.—Farm relief leaders are considering a compromise farm relief plan whereby the equalization fee of the McNary-Haugen bill would not be applied for a definite period, either one or two years. This is advanced in order to speed up action, as the equalization fee is the chief objection raised by opponents of the measure.

Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, chairman of the senate agriculture committee, said he is not a party to this compromise and had not agreed to it, but will wait for developments before he decides definitely on it. Further compromises may be necessary, he feels, but now he is of the opinion that the bill should stand as written.

McNary announced today he would seek to bring the bill up in the senate for consideration next week.

The McNary-Haugen bill will be taken up in the house next week, the rules committee decided today. By that time, Chairman Snell announced the pending appropriation bill will be out of the way.

The plan for postponement of the equalization fee is a move to draw additional support, particularly aimed at southern democrats, most of whom now oppose the measure because of the equalization fee on cotton, one of the crops whose surplus would be handled under the bill. The others are wheat, corn, rice and hogs.

McNary pointed out, however, that only a few southern democrats supported the bill last session despite withholding of the equalization fee for three years. There is another prospective lure for southern votes—elimination of the fee on cotton and subscription of the so-called Bledsoe plan for insurance against low cotton prices.

Under this plan, the producer would pay one dollar insurance on his cotton and carrying charge, amounting or seven or eight dollars through a revolving fund of $50,000,000, the government would act as a huge insurance company. The cotton co-operatives would handle the crop, withholding it from the market and selling when conditions were best. The farmer would be guaranteed the spot price of the day he turned his cotton over to the association. Advocates of the plan say that the government would make money over a period of years.

McNary opposes this plan because it lacks compulsion. He pointed out that only eight per cent of cotton growers are in co-operative associations.

center of Chekiang province, is on the seacoast about 100 miles south of Shanghai, with which it is connected by a railway. The population is about 800,000.

Peking, Jan. 26.—Chinese authorities at Foochow today announced the execution of ten persons and the arrest of 200 others charged with looting foreign property.

Four-fifths of the foreign women and children normally resident there have been evacuated.

Hankow, Jan. 26.—Double payment of the surtaxes recently imposed by Chinese authorities at Shanghai today confronted foreign businessmen in the interior portions of China controlled by the Cantonese nationalists.

The Cantonese announced they would collect the surtaxes on goods arriving in their territory regardless of whether the goods already had been assessed at Shanghai. The nationalists said they did not recognize the legality of Shanghai collections.

Shanghai, Jan. 26.—Havens of safety at which Americans would be concentrated in the event of a great emergency, today were being prepared by the United States consulate as reports arrived from Hang Chow. (Continued on page 4)

Out of 158 individual inspections of the health of school children by the County Nurse, Miss Thora Ingebritson, during the month of December, 30 school children had defects corrected, according to the monthly report submitted by the county nurse.

The report follows:

Total number visits, 41.
Total number visits to homes, 25.
Of this number there were 3 nursing care visits, 17 instruction and demonstration, 5 investigation of scarlet fever cases, and 16 miscellaneous, such as visits to hospitals, doctors, members of school boards and town boards.

School Work

Eight school rooms were visited and 158 individual inspections were made. Thirty children had had defects corrected. Eight class talks and one talk to a club were given.

Special Cases

One child was accompanied to the hospital and a minor operation performed. Another child was accompanied home from the State Hospital for Crippled Children.

A woman suffering from heart trouble was brought in to the hospital.

Two people were accompanied to doctors, one of whom was a man who is almost blind and has nephritis and diabetes. The doctor advised hospital care and therefore an application was sent to the University Hospital. State Aid from the Division for the Blind was obtained for him.

Tuberculosis Clinic

One tuberculosis clinic was held with an attendance of six.

Christmas Boxes

Twenty-two Christmas boxes were made up by some of the Girl Scouts and distributed to the children of the County Allowance mothers. The gifts were given by the Whittier school children.

Ice cream was served after which Lou's band furnished music for dancing.

Among those who took part in the program were the following: Arden Miller, saxophone; Alice Little, recitation; Helen Paine, recitation; John Holvick, comic talk; Clara Pink and Dale Bushway, song; Florence Nesheim, piano solo; Victor Bushway, violin, accompanied by Evelyn Pink; Mardell Lyons and Beverly Britton, dance; Gertrude Keino, recitation.

FULL GOSPEL ASSEMBLY

"Russellism in the Light of Scripture or Has Jesus Come, or is He Coming?" is Subject of Sermon

The subject of the sermon at the Full Gospel Assembly, 1/2 A street N. E., (near the fill) this evening will be "Russellism in the Light of Scripture." The question will be discussed frankly, whether Jesus has come to this earth (His second coming) or if His coming is yet future and imminent. Other phases of the teachings will also be considered. The Second Coming of Christ, and kindred subjects are very interesting, and all are cordially invited to this service.

Rev. Johnson, the pastor, said today in regard to the meeting, "The subject is timely, interesting, and very important. It makes a tremendous difference if Jesus has already come, or if we shall look for Him in the future. Also the condition after death should receive our earnest attention. The Bible will be the Text book, and we invite all who come to bring their Bibles with them. All are welcome."

The service begins promptly at 7:45, and a short song service will precede the sermon.

St. Francis Guild Dancing Party

Tickets have been issued for the dancing party which the St. Francis Guild will give Valentine's day, February 14, at the U. C. T. auditorium. The public is cordially invited to attend.

CARS AND ROADS AS EDUCATORS

The motor car is thought of primarily as an agency of quick transportation, and that is what it is, but the motor car is also a valuable socializer and co-educator, as we have discovered here in Minnesota.

If one were to seek a concrete illustration of the motor car as a co-educator, he could do no better than go to a rough coal mine country in West Virginia. The word rough is used to describe the topography, not the people. The word co-educator is applied to the motor car with the understanding that its coadjutor in education is a good road.

West Virginians laughed a few years ago at the idea of building a good road touching certain isolated mountain districts. It was a foolish dream, they thought, but more and more people had the dream, and the more they dreamed the less the project seemed like folly. It was the fact of the motor car that oriented them.

Today there is a fine road from Charleston to Logan, 60 miles away. One can drive comfortably from Sharples to Madison in 20 minutes, to Blair mountain in 40 minutes and to Charleston in two and a half hours, the year through, without regard to the state of the weather.

The economic effect of such a road is at once apparent, but the social and educational effect is not so intrusive on the mind. Less than 10 years ago each small neighborhood was virtually isolated from other neighborhoods. Now the lunch clubs of various towns find it easy to get together around tables to discuss topics of common interest, and there was a recent safety meeting at Madison attended by 6,000 persons. The coadjutors—motor car and good road—had cleared the way.

Daily newspapers that once reached their destination late in the afternoon are delivered at 6 o'clock in the morning. Laundry service, formerly intermittent and undependable, is stabilized, and community pride is quickened. Mountaineers have newly painted their houses. The young women are more becomingly garbed. Rural school children are taken 15 to 20 miles in busses to consolidated schools. Coal camps, lately forbidding and drab looking places, have come to be pleasant, prideful places in which to live. Viewpoints and intellectual horizons have broadened with broadened neighborhoods. And so the case is made.—Minneapolis Tribune.

LATEST IN GREETINGS

You know the message which the average man or woman sends home when he's visiting somewhere: "Having fine time and wish you were here."

Well, E. O. Webb is at St. Petersburg, Florida, and dodging the 39 below zero weather somebody wished on us last night. He was at the Rotary club there and the club has a card all made out for visitors, carrying notification to the Brainerd secretary of Rotary and also carrying a pleasant little story of the Southland as follows:

"Dear Secretary: Take it from me, this is a regular Rotary town, imbued with a real Rotary spirit which means that you get service. In winter time, 100,000 visitors are entertained here and at the Friday meetings of the Rotary club there are Rotarians present from all over the world.

"St. Petersburg, of course, is in the tourist business, so naturally, provides recreation of every sort for the visitor. Make it a point to tell all the fellows when Florida bound to be sure and spend Friday in the Sunshine City where the sun shines every day and the flowers never die."

Other Brainerd people who have been at the St. Petersburg club report that the ratio of visitors to members has on occasions been 179 visiting Rotarians and 73 home town St. Petersburg members.

Brainerd Rotary and the Lions club too may well adopt the St. Petersburg plan this summer and have a nice greeting from our lake region carried in the attendance card of the visitor. It will serve to impress outside luncheon clubs with the beauties and recreation afforded in our lake region.

MORE PLUMBING NEEDED

PARIS may be long on art and style and the Latin quarter and triumphal arches and beautiful parks and gossamer-like bridge spans, but it's short in material things such as bath tubs and there are only three elegant swimming pools in town.

Paris reflects the general spirit of France. It's short, decidedly short in the matter of bath tubs. An army of American plumbers and a fleet of plumbers' supplies could do wonders in France.

There is moisture enough from overhead, but a man hates to take a bath that way. We remember during the war receiving a souvenir postal from Captain Andy Gieriet who happened to visit a French town of some 50,000 population.

Andy wrote on the face of the card that he was enjoying a novel experience. He was taking a bath in the only bath tub in town.

The only logical conclusion to draw from the incident is that while Andy took the bath, 49,999 Frenchmen were waiting for him to finish.

SECRETARY JARDINE'S warning as to the danger in duplication of marketing organizations covering the same field is sound, says the Co-operative Shipper. Co-operative marketing can only bring to farmers its full benefits when it has the concentrated power which comes from nearly unanimous support of producers of its special commodity. Of course, it can never expect 100 per cent support. There are always some who want to be out of step and will refuse to join with their fellow producers.

THE St. Cloud Journal-Press is proud to announce that an editorial on changes in banking laws was read into the records of the state senate. Some years ago the Brainerd Dispatch had an observation on Panama canal tolls read into the Congressional record.

FLORIDA is advertising again now and very ably—but look out that you don't call it a whirlwind campaign, says the Boston Transcript.

AN apple a day may keep the doctor away, says the Toledo Blade, but applesauce has no influence on a bill collector.

SYNOPSIS

John Ballard rises from poverty to District Attorneyship. He loves Viola Ruskin, but Fate weeds her to Hardin, an old chum, now President of a great railroad, and partly to Jordan, money king. Jordan's greed causes a grave wreck. John grimly purposes to put the officials in jail. Phil learns Viola loves John, and threatens disclosure of a college brawl in which John presumably killed a man to protect Phil. John refuses to be coerced. The wreck trial opens. Disreputable crooks present a letter proving John's innocence. Phil buys it, to destroy it.

Viola, his wife, was there; the letter was in her hand.

"Are you looking for this?" she said. "I shall keep it."

"Viola—how—why?"

"I heard, by pure chance, your long distance talk—I took up the receiver to call a number, in my own room, not knowing you were using the telephone. And what I heard made me listen to the end. I shall take this letter to John Ballard."

"By God, you won't!"

He sprang forward as he spoke. But she was too quick and too clever for him. She freed herself from his lunging grasp; in a moment she was in the hall and at the front door. With a groan he recognized his defeat; saw what crushing and irremediable disaster this interference of Viola's spelled.

"I'm sorry, Phil," she said, gently. "I would do nothing to hurt you—nothing to help your enemies. But I heard the plot you and that man hatched. I cannot allow an innocent man to be stabbed in the back. Good bye."

CHAPTER XIV

Phil Hardin, reaching Minneapolis late that night, found Jordan, for the first time, showing signs of fear. Himself utterly cast down and depressed, he was shocked to find that much of Jordan's confidence had evaporated since morning.

"What's gone wrong now?" he said.

"I've had word from your detective, chief," said Jordan. "Phil—it looks bad. He can get nothing."

"Sorry, Mr. Hardin, but my orders are that you are not to leave town."

on Ballard. He's through—he's called on his men. He's found out the truth. The man who was supposed to have been killed wasn't killed at all. His name was Rudy Johnson, and he had some reason for wanting to disappear, so he took advantage of the report of his death. But they've traced him.

There seemed to be a chance that we might get two men to wear to the killing, and to blame Ballard for it, even so. But our detectives can't deal with them—they seem to be afraid. I guess we've got to give up hope of getting anywhere along that line."

"I—well, I guess so," said Phil, heavily. God—how near he had been to being able to save the whole situation! Those witnesses had been willing to deal only with him, a principal—that accounted for the report that had come to Jordan, of course. But with him they had been perfectly willing to deal. And now—to use them was out of the question. For, by this time, John Ballard had the letter that proved his innocence of the charge that had hung over him so long like the sword of Damocles.

He looked at Jordan. Should he tell him what had happened? Then he recoiled, trembling, from the very thought. Jordan would blame him—to this mood he was in he might kill him! Yet it had not been his fault. How was he to know that anyone, much less Viola, was listening in on the telephone? How clever, how damnably clever, she had been, to understand the cryptic meaning of that talk! What a fool he had been ever to tell her of his hold on Ballard!

Children's Night Coughs

Stepped Almost Instantly

Children very frequently have spells of night coughing due to bronchial irritations or while suffering from colds. These coughing spells, if not quickly checked, are very injurious to the child's health, to say nothing of the annoyance to others.

A famous physician's prescription called Thoxine much better than patent medicines and cough syrups acts on a different principle, relieves the irritation and stops the cough in a few minutes. In fact it is guaranteed to stop night coughs or sore throat within 15 minutes or money back. Contains no chloroform, dope or other harmful drugs, pleasant taste and safe. 35c, 60c and $1.00. CARS AND ROADS AS EDUCATORS

The motor car is thought of primarily as an agency of quick transportation, and that is what it is, but the motor car is also a valuable socializer and co-educator, as we have discovered here in Minnesota.

If one were to seek a concrete illustration of the motor car as a co-educator, he could do no better than go to a rough coal mine country in West Virginia. The word rough is used to describe the topography, not the people. The word co-educator is applied to the motor car with the understanding that its coadjutor in education is a good road.

West Virginians laughed a few years ago at the idea of building a good road touching certain isolated mountain districts. It was a foolish dream, they thought, but more and more people had the dream, and the more they dreamed the less the project seemed like folly. It was the fact of the motor car that oriented them.

Today there is a fine road from Charleston to Logan, 60 miles away. One can drive comfortably from Sharples to Madison in 20 minutes, to Blair mountain in 40 minutes and to Charleston in two and a half hours, the year through, without regard to the state of the weather.

The economic effect of such a road is at once apparent, but the social and educational effect is not so intrusive on the mind. Less than 10 years ago each small neighborhood was virtually isolated from other neighborhoods. Now the lunch clubs of various towns find it easy to get together around tables to discuss topics of common interest, and there was a recent safety meeting at Madison attended by 6,000 persons. The coadjutors—motor car and good road—had cleared the way.

Daily newspapers that once reached their destination late in the afternoon are delivered at 6 o'clock in the morning. Laundry service, formerly intermittent and undependable, is stabilized, and community pride is quickened. Mountaineers have newly painted their houses. The young women are more becomingly garbed. Rural school children are taken 15 to 20 miles in busses to consolidated schools. Coal camps, lately forbidding and drab looking places, have come to be pleasant, prideful places in which to live. Viewpoints and intellectual horizons have broadened with broadened neighborhoods. And so the case is made.—Minneapolis Tribune.

LATEST IN GREETINGS

You know the message which the average man or woman sends home when he's visiting somewhere: "Having fine time and wish you were here."

Well, E. O. Webb is at St. Petersburg, Florida, and dodging the 39 below zero weather somebody wished on us last night. He was at the Rotary club there and the club has a card all made out for visitors, carrying notification to the Brainerd secretary of Rotary and also carrying a pleasant little story of the Southland as follows:

"Dear Secretary: Take it from me, this is a regular Rotary town, imbued with a real Rotary spirit which means that you get service. In winter time, 100,000 visitors are entertained here and at the Friday meetings of the Rotary club there are Rotarians present from all over the world.

"St. Petersburg, of course, is in the tourist business, so naturally, provides recreation of every sort for the visitor. Make it a point to tell all the fellows when Florida bound to be sure and spend Friday in the Sunshine City where the sun shines every day and the flowers never die."

Other Brainerd people who have been at the St. Petersburg club report that the ratio of visitors to members has on occasions been 179 visiting Rotarians and 73 home town St. Petersburg members.

Brainerd Rotary and the Lions club too may well adopt the St. Petersburg plan this summer and have a nice greeting from our lake region carried in the attendance card of the visitor. It will serve to impress outside luncheon clubs with the beauties and recreation afforded in our lake region.

MORE PLUMBING NEEDED

PARIS may be long on art and style and the Latin quarter and triumphal arches and beautiful parks and gossamer-like bridge spans, but it's short in material things such as bath tubs and there are only three elegant swimming pools in town.

Paris reflects the general spirit of France. It's short, decidedly short in the matter of bath tubs. An army of American plumbers and a fleet of plumbers' supplies could do wonders in France.

There is moisture enough from overhead, but a man hates to take a bath that way. We remember during the war receiving a souvenir postal from Captain Andy Gieriet who happened to visit a French town of some 50,000 population.

Andy wrote on the face of the card that he was enjoying a novel experience. He was taking a bath in the only bath tub in town.

The only logical conclusion to draw from the incident is that while Andy took the bath, 49,999 Frenchmen were waiting for him to finish.

SECRETARY JARDINE's warning as to the danger in duplication of marketing organizations covering the same field is sound, says the Co-operative Shipper. Co-operative marketing can only bring to farmers its full benefits when it has the concentrated power which comes from nearly unanimous support of producers of its special commodity. Of course, it can never expect 100 per cent support. There are always some who want to be out of step and will refuse to join with their fellow producers.

THE St. Cloud Journal-Press is proud to announce that an editorial on changes in banking laws was read into the records of the state senate. Some years ago the Brainerd Dispatch had an observation on Panama canal tolls read into the Congressional record.

FLORIDA is advertising again now and very ably—but look out that you don't call it a whirlwind campaign, says the Boston Transcript.

AN apple a day may keep the doctor away, says the Toledo Blade, but applesauce has no influence on a bill collector.

"SOME WILD NOTIONS I HAVE KNOWN"

By the REV. ROY L. SMITH, D. D.
Pastor Simpson M. E. Church, Minneapolis

"THIS IS A FREE COUNTRY"

But only for those who have learned the science of self government! Freedom for any man is made possible only by the consent of all people. If each man was allowed to do as he pleased no man could do as he pleased. What the public disapproves of cannot be allowed even in a free country.

The people of the United States enjoy more liberties than the citizens of any other nation under the sun, but each liberty we enjoy is the right to become our best and not the right to be our worst.

The man who shouts, "This is a free country," is usually contending for the right to exercise liberties that infringe on the liberties of other people equally sacred with his own.

It is only by surrendering some liberties that we gain others. By surrendering the right to dump our garbage where we please, to keep hogs and chickens in the front yards, to walk on the grass instead of the pavements, we earn the right to live in sightly cities surrounded by beauty and opportunity. By surrendering the right to indulge our personal appetites as may suit our pleasure, we win the right of safer highways, more efficient service, less poverty and lower taxes. By surrendering the right to persecute and torture those who differ with us in religion, we win the right to enjoy our own faith unmolested.

There can be no freedom without the loss of some personal liberties. Every great liberty guaranteed to the citizenry of a nation consists of the accumulated liberties of the individuals surrendered for the common good.

This is a free country—not one in which one can indulge his worse appetites, his most bestial passions, his perverted lusts or his conscienceless greed, but one in which he is free to worship God according to his own conscience, live in a happy home with his children and one wife secure from marauders and rapists, go to the polls and express an honest conviction without fear or favor, expand his mind, earn his daily bread in freedom and honor and be a son of God.

"SOME WILD NOTIONS I HAVE KNOWN"

By the REV. ROY L. SMITH, D. D.
Pastor Simpson M. E. Church, Minneapolis

"THIS IS A FREE COUNTRY"

But only for those who have learned the science of self government! Freedom for any man is made possible only by the consent of all people. If each man was allowed to do as he pleased no man could do as he pleased. What the public disapproves of cannot be allowed even in a free country.

The people of the United States enjoy more liberties than the citizens of any other nation under the sun, but each liberty we enjoy is the right to become our best and not the right to be our worst.

The man who shouts, "This is a free country," is usually contending for the right to exercise liberties that infringe on the liberties of other people equally sacred with his own.

It is only by surrendering some liberties that we gain others. By surrendering the right to dump our garbage where we please, to keep hogs and chickens in the front yards, to walk on the grass instead of the pavements, we earn the right to live in slightly cities surrounded by beauty and opportunity. By surrendering the right to indulge our personal appetites as may suit our pleasure, we win the right of safer highways, more efficient service, less poverty and lower taxes. By surrendering the right to persecute and torture those who differ with us in religion, we win the right to enjoy our own faith unmolested.

There can be no freedom without the loss of some personal liberties. Every great liberty guaranteed to the citizenry of a nation consists of the accumulated liberties of the individuals surrendered for the common good.

This is a free country—not one in which one can indulge his worse appetites, his most bestial passions, his perverted lusts or his conscienceless greed, but one in which he is free to worship God according to his own conscience, live in a happy home with his children and one wife secure from marauders and rapists, go to the polls and express an honest conviction without fear or favor, expand his mind, earn his daily bread in freedom and honor and be a son of God.

LANDIS-JOHNSON BURY BASEBALL FEUD

FEELING ARISES BAN GOT AN UNFAIR DEAL

JOHNSON PARTISANS SAY HIS OWN LEAGUE THREW HIM DOWN

BRIBED HIM WITH $40,000 YEAR
SALARY TO TAKE A VACATION

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Jan. 26.—While official baseball manifested restrained elation over the settlement of the feud between Commissioner Landis and Ban Johnson, president of the American League, there has arisen a feeling, minor as it may be, that Johnson got an unfair deal.

Johnson's die-hard partisans insist that the club owners of a league that he created and spent twenty-seven years of his life in keeping alive and developing it to a priority over the older National League, threw him down and bribed him with a $40,000 a year salary to take a vacation and stay out of baseball.

It was generally admitted that Johnson today is physically unfit to administer the business affairs of a corporation worth millions of dollars.

Those not thoroughly familiar with the happenings of American League politics since 1919—and perhaps before that—might be justified in thinking that it was unfair to "throw out a sick and doddering old man."

But as Tammany Young, the famous gate crasher, Broadway sage and baseball fan remarked:

"Say, when I do enough to get fired from my racket and they fire me for the rest of my days at forty grand a year, I want to be fired. I'll go crazy this minute for that much dough."

There is no doubt that Johnson is a subject of sympathy. The finish of his career was not a glorious one but the men who brought about the finish of his career did not act with the vindictiveness that characterized most of Johnson's acts and utterances in recent years.

After what has happened, and what no doubt will happen when the commissioner restores the fair names of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker it probably will be a fair verdict that Johnson got a much better deal from his employers than Johnson gave to Cobb and Speaker.

Sport Notes

Michigan's football team played to 357,911 spectators, most of whom could see the games.

Herbert Joesting, Minnesota's line-plunging fullback, will captain the 1927 Gopher football team.

England has 990 affiliated field hockey clubs for women, while this country has 50 active clubs, mainly among colleges and schools.

Preston Gray, manager of the Rock Island team last season, has been engaged as manager of the Moline team of the Mississippi Valley league, in 1927.

Robert McPhail of Arlington, Mass., was elected captain of the 1927 Dartmouth football squad. He has alternated as regular halfback and quarterback for two years.

Norman Pitt, recruit, who deserted the Brooklyn Robins three years ago to play independent baseball, has been reinstated by K. M. Landis, commissioner of organized baseball.

"Big Moose" Clabaugh, creator of a new world record for home runs when he hit over sixty in the East Texas league last season, has been released by the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Frank Calder has been appointed commissioner of professional hockey by the National Hockey league of Canada to act as final judge of all disputes among the minor leagues and clubs.

Put Mossman, world champion horseshoe pitcher, tossed ringers blindfolded in an exhibition match during the national tourney in St. Petersburg, Fla. Mossman is eighteen years of age.

Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion, has engaged in sixty-one contests, scored thirty knockouts, won fifteen decisions, lost one decision, engaged in fourteen no-decisions and one no-contest.

Table: Fifty thousand spectators rose en masse as the quartet threw the ball. A man in the thirty-second row shouted: "Down in front!" The 50,000 spectators immediately sat down.

CAGE CLASSIC ON TONIGHT

BAN JOHNSON HAS GONE TO EXCELSIOR SPRINGS

Chicago, Jan. 26.—(UP)—Ban Johnson, president of the American league, who was given a leave of absence by the league owners last Sunday, is attempting to regain his health at Excelsior Springs, Mo.

Johnson left Chicago last night and probably will remain at the Missouri resort for two or three weeks.

The baseball leader refused to make a statement, before leaving, with regard to the action of the league owners in virtually forcing him out of office. He said his only interests were in regaining his health.

TOPPIECE FAILS TO HINDER ALEX

Habit of Tweaking at Bill
Cause of Much Comment.

When Alexander reported to the St. Louis Cards several weeks after the opening of the 1926 season, all the uniforms and caps in the clubhouse had been picked over by those players on hand when the season began. So Alex had to take what was left. He did very well with his uniform, but in the matter of a cap he did not fare so well. The biggest cap he could find pinched his brow.

He pulled at the bill of that cap until he cupped the crown, but all to no avail. He stretched the cap until he could keep it on his head, but it was always a little small. It cocked away. It had a leer and a twist and a look of being out of place. It gave the veteran pitcher a rookie aspect.

This cap had already perked and sidled its way into a conspicuous place in the last world series before ever the stage was set for the seventh

act in the drama. More than 100,000 people had peered at the crease in that cap's crown.

Came then the seventh act. The crisis when the culmination of all the summer baseball campaign hung upon one play. Seventh inning, two out, three on. A gray sky hung low over the field. Mists enveloped Harlan flats.

From the bullpen in a corner off from left field came a figure in answer to the Cardinal leader's call. It was Alexander coming in to save the game. He just shuffled along. Every step he took, every movement was watched tensely by 40,000 fans. His every gesture was radioed to 5,000,000 more fans, just as tense. He took his place in the box and tweaked at that close-fitting cap. His tweak creased the crown. Eighty thousand eyes were glued to that cap. The greater field of action, the achievement of striking out the batter, the final winning of the game, these were all melted in the mists of the afternoon. But in that one great moment the wrought-iron feelings of the throng turned to that cap as a safety valve. Hearts stopped beating while eyes focused on that cap that were afraid to watch the fateful orbit of the ball or the arc of the batsman's bat.

Ald so it was that from then on to the last out of that decisive struggle every man and woman in the stands watched intently every time Alex pulled at the bill of that old cap. There were many times when women wanted to shriek, just because that cap was too small.

ST. GODARD'S HUSKY TEAM BEAT RECORD

SMASHED ALL FIGURES IN FIRST
LAP OF THE PAS DOG
DERBY

WAS 12 MINUTES, 5 SECONDS IN
LEAD OVER EARL
BRYDGES

The Pas, Man., Jan. 26.—(UP)—Pawing the frozen track and sniffing the far below zero atmosphere, the husky team of Emil St. Godard, which yesterday smashed all dog derby records in the first lap of the marathon of the northlands, was prancing today to get away on the 12-minute, five second lead which had been piled up over Earl Brydges and his team who were in second place.

The time of the drivers for the first stage follows:
Emil St. Godard, 3 hours, 35 minutes, 45 seconds.
Earl Brydges, 3:47.50.
Leo St. Godard, 3:50.15.
H. Olenksky, 4:1.43.
Shorty Russick, 4:3.4.
T. Elvery did not finish, quitting the race on the fourth lap.

The course, which is laid out along the frozen bed of the Saskatchewan river, is eight miles in length. The contest, which is spread over three days, calls for five laps or forty miles each day, a total of 120 miles in all.

Emil St. Godard, French-Canadian 20 years old, who is now in the lead, delighted the thousands who witnessed the race, by breaking his own previous 25 mile record by 11 minutes and 4 seconds, placing it at two hours, 11 minutes and 26 seconds; by breaking the 40-mile record, with his total for the day, and by exceeding

Quick Results

If your weight is "off normal" it may well be that your food is not being properly digested.

Some of the glands of your mouth and stomach, or other vital organs may not be functioning properly. What you eat is not being turned into the real nourishment that your body needs. If you go on that way, you are endangering your whole future.

Act now to provide your digestive apparatus with the assistance it needs.

A remarkable stimulant- tonic has been devised for just such conditions as these. It is delightfully palatable and is prepared by an old Virginia concern in business for nearly a century. Druggists have come to know this stimulant as "Old Monticello Tonic." Get a bottle today from your druggist, take a small wineglass full before your next meal—see how much better you eat—feel the glow of stimulated functions throughout the body. ing 14 miles an hour over large sections of the course.
Severe weather conditions prevailed during the first day of the race, the mercury registering 49 degrees below zero.

The Pas, Man., Jan. 26.—Emil St. Godard today maintained the advantage he gained Tuesday in the first day of The Pas' annual dog derby.

With his huskies swinging along the Saskatchewan river trail without a trace of fatigue, St. Godard finished the first lap of eight miles in 42 minutes, not record breaking, but good time. He had a 12-minute advantage in Tuesday's race.

Earl Brydges, the boy driver, who has a large following, was making a bid for victory and was close behind St. Godard. Harry Olenksky was third; "Shorty" Russick was fourth and Leo St. Godard fifth.

Spectators agreed that this year's derby rests between Emil St. Godard and Brydges. The latter was second Tuesday.

Moderation in the weather made racing conditions ideal.

Forty miles of the race was run off Tuesday, 40 miles is being run off today and an equal distance Thursday will end the derby. The course is 8 miles long and is lapped five times a day.

The Pas, Man., Jan. 26.—Outdistancing all competitors, Emil St. Godard continued in the lead in The Pas dog derby today. He was well in front at the end of the third lap. With 16 of today's 40 miles still ahead of him, St. Godard had a lead of 11 minutes and 40 seconds over Earl Brydges, the boy driver, who finished second Tuesday with a comfortable advantage.

Brydges' huskies failed him today and "Shorty" Russick moved into second place, Brydges falling back to third.

The final 40 miles of the three-day, 120-mile derby will be raced Thursday.

RESPECT FOR TRAFFIC LAWS SAVED HIS LIFE

Chicago, Jan. 26.—(UP)—Respect for the traffic laws saved William P. Brown of Oak Park from being robbed when two bandits jumped to the running board of his automobile as he stopped at a crossing signal.

"I can't," said Brown. "The stop light's against me."

When the bandit insisted Brown became so angry that he twisted the highwayman's wrist, forcing the bandit to drop his pistol. Both robbers escaped.

New York, Jan. 26.—While official baseball manifested restrained elation over the settlement of the feud between Commissioner Landis and Ban Johnson, president of the American League, there has arisen a feeling, minor as it may be, that Johnson got an unfair deal.

Johnson's die-hard partisans insist that the club owners of a league that he created and spent twenty-seven years of his life in keeping alive and developing it to a priority over the older National League, threw him down and bribed him with a $40,000 a year salary to take a vacation and stay out of baseball.

"Say, when I do enough to get fired from my racket and they fire me for the rest of my days at forty grand a year, I want to be fired. I'll go crazy this minute for that much dough."

There is no doubt that Johnson is a subject of sympathy. The finish of his career was not a glorious one but the men who brought about the finish of his career did not act with the vindictiveness that characterized most of Johnson's acts and utterances in recent years.

After what has happened, and what no doubt will happen when the commissioner restores the fair names of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker it probably will be a fair verdict that Johnson got a much better deal from his employers than Johnson gave to Cobb and Speaker.

CAGE CLASSIC ON TONIGHT

BAN JOHNSON HAS GONE TO EXCELSIOR SPRINGS

Chicago, Jan. 26.—(UP)—Ban Johnson, president of the American league, who was given a leave of absence by the league owners last Sunday, is attempting to regain his health at Excelsior Springs, Mo.

Johnson left Chicago last night and probably will remain at the Missouri resort for two or three weeks.

The baseball leader refused to make a statement, before leaving, with regard to the action of the league owners in virtually forcing him out of office. He said his only interests were in regaining his health.

TOPPIECE FAILS TO HINDER ALEX

Habit of Tweaking at Bill
Cause of Much Comment.

When Alexander reported to the St. Louis Cards several weeks after the opening of the 1926 season, all the uniforms and caps in the clubhouse had been picked over by those players on hand when the season began. So Alex had to take what was left. He did very well with his uniform, but in the matter of a cap he did not fare so well. The biggest cap he could find pinched his brow.

He pulled at the bill of that cap until he cupped the crown, but all to no avail. He stretched the cap until he could keep it on his head, but it was always a little small. It cocked away. It had a leer and a twist and a look of being out of place. It gave the veteran pitcher a rookish aspect.

This cap had already perked and sidled its way into a conspicuous place in the last world series before ever the stage was set for the seventh

act in the drama. More than 100,000 people had peered at the crease in that cap's crown.

Came then the seventh act. The crisis when the culmination of all the summer baseball campaign hung upon one play. Seventh inning, two out, three on. A gray sky hung low over the field. Mists enveloped Harlan flats.

From the bullpen in a corner off from left field came a figure in answer to the Cardinal leader's call. It was Alexander coming in to save the game. He just shuffled along. Every step he took, every movement was watched tensely by 40,000 fans. His every gesture was radioed to 5,000,000 more fans, just as tense. He took his place in the box and tweaked at that close-fitting cap. His tweak creased the crown. Eighty thousand eyes were glued to that cap. The greater field of action, the achievement of striking out the batter, the final winning of the game, these were all melted in the mists of the afternoon. But in that one great moment the wrought-up feelings of the throng turned to that cap as a safety valve. Hearts stopped beating while eyes focused on that cap that were afraid to watch the fateful orbit of the ball or the arc of the batsman's bat.

And so it was that from then on to the last out of that decisive struggle every man and woman in the stands watched intently every time Alex pulled at the bill of that old cap. There were many times when women wanted to shriek, just because that cap was too small.

IN PRELIMINARY

The Rainbows are all primed for their latest cage classic which will take place at the Brainerd high school tonight when they stack up against the fast Foley quint.

Nutting, who during the early part of the season, was unable to find his true stride, was discovered as being one of the nearest forwards to don a Rainbow sweater on the road trip just completed. He is a fit running mate for the speedy Wally Engstrom, and the opposing team will find that these two forwards are ones to be seriously considered.

The preliminary game will be staged between the Junior Flying Aces and the Little Tigers, the game to start at 7:30 o'clock.

ST. GODARD'S HUSKY TEAM BEAT RECORD

SMASHED ALL FIGURES IN FIRST
LAP OF THE PAS DOG
DERBY

WAS 12 MINUTES, 5 SECONDS IN
LEAD OVER EARL
BRYDGES

The Pas, Man., Jan. 26.—(UP)—Pawing the frozen track and sniffing the far below zero atmosphere, the husky team of Emil St. Godard, which yesterday smashed all dog derby records in the first lap of the marathon of the northlands, was prancing today to get away on the 12-minute, five second lead which had been piled up over Earl Brydges and his team who were in second place.

The time of the drivers for the first stage follows:
Emil St. Godard, 3 hours, 35 minutes, 45 seconds.
Earl Brydges, 3:47.50.
Leo St. Godard, 3:50.15.
H. Olenky, 4:1.43.
Shorty Russick, 4:3.4.
T. Elvery did not finish, quitting the race on the fourth lap.
The course, which is laid out along the frozen bed of the Saskatchewan river, is eight miles in length. The contest, which is spread over three days, calls for five laps or forty miles each day, a total of 120 miles in all.

Emil St. Godard, French-Canadian 20 years old, who is now in the lead, delighted the thousands who witnessed the race, by breaking his own previous 25 mile record by 11 minutes and 4 seconds, placing it at two hours, 11 minutes and 26 seconds; by breaking the 40-mile record, with his total for the day, and by exceeding

Stimulate Glands of Stomach to Full Vitality

This Scientific Method Brings
Quick Results

If your weight is "off normal" it may well be that your food is not being properly digested.

Some of the glands of your mouth and stomach, or other vital organs may not be functioning properly. What you eat is not being turned into the real nourishment that your body needs. If you go on that way, you are endangering your whole future.

Act now to provide your digestive apparatus with the assistance it needs.

A remarkable stimulant- tonic has been devised for just such conditions as these. It is delightfully palatable and is prepared by an old Virginia concern in business for nearly a century. Druggists have come to know this stimulant as "Old Monticello Tonic." Get a bottle today from your druggist, take a small wineglass full before your next meal—see how much better you eat—feel the glow of stimulated functions throughout the body. A few days' treatment will bring a quick change in run-down conditions and overcome lack of energy. —Advt.

ing 14 miles an hour over large sections of the course.

Severe weather conditions prevailed during the first day of the race, the mercury registering 40 degrees below zero.

The Pas, Man., Jan. 26.—Emil St. Godard today maintained the advantage he gained Tuesday in the first day of The Pas' annual dog derby.

With his huskies swinging along the Saskatchewan river trail without a trace of fatigue, St. Godard finished the first lap of eight miles in 42 minutes, not record breaking, but good time. He had a 12-minute advantage in Tuesday's race.

Earl Brydges, the boy driver, who has a large following, was making a bid for victory and was close behind St. Godard. Harry Olenky was third; "Shorty" Russick was fourth and Leo St. Godard fifth.

Spectators agreed that this year's derby rests between Emil St. Godard and Brydges. The latter was second Tuesday.

Moderation in the weather made racing conditions ideal.

Forty miles of the race was run off Tuesday, 40 miles is being run off today and an equal distance Thursday will end the derby. The course is 8 miles long and is lapped five times a day.

The Pas, Man., Jan. 26.—Outdistancing all competitors, Emil St. Godard continued in the lead in The Pas dog derby today. He was well in front at the end of the third lap. With 16 of today's 40 miles still ahead of him, St. Godard had a lead of 11 minutes and 40 seconds over Earl Brydges, the boy driver, who finished second Tuesday with a comfortable advantage.

Brydges' huskies failed him today and "Shorty" Russick moved into second place, Brydges falling back to third.

The final 40 miles of the three-day, 120-mile derby will be raced Thursday.

RESPECT FOR TRAFFIC LAWS SAVED HIS LIFE

Chicago, Jan. 26.—(UP)—Respect for the traffic laws saved William P. Brown of Oak Park from being robbed when two bandits jumped to the running board of his automobile as he stopped at a crossing signal.

"Drive on," one robber commanded, menacing Brown with a revolver.

"I can't," said Brown. "The stop light's against me."

When the bandit insisted Brown became so angry that he twisted the highwayman's wrist, forcing the bandit to drop his pistol. Both robbers escaped.

The accidental shooting took place when Miles was out hunting rabbits with five other boys, on the banks of Hartley Lake on the Michael Marea farm. Woodrow Wilson, aged 12 years another farmer boy was among the boys. He carried a 22 calibre revolver and it was when he attempted to shoot a rabbit that he shot William Miles in the back.

Young Miles was immediately taken to the St. Joseph's hospital by Dr. G. I. Badeaux where an operation took place immediately.

He is reported today to be feeling considerably better and it is believed that the danger point has passed.

IMPROVEMENT LEAGUE MEETING

Albert O. Anderson Named President Northeast Brainerd League for Ensuing Year

HUGO A. KAATZ, SECRETARY

A Program Arranged by Mrs. Herbert Given Before Business Session

At the regular meeting of the Northeast Improvement League held last night at the Lowell school the following officers were elected to serve for the coming year:

President—Albert O. Anderson.
Vice President—Peter Dryburgh.
Secretary—Hugo A. Kaatz.
Treasurer—Mrs. F. M. Kelly.

Elected members of the executive committee—Oscar Swanson, Dan Chord.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Kaatz has been re-elected every year since the founding of the organization. Mrs. J. H. Herbert, the retiring president thanked all those who have so ably assisted her in the two years that she served and was given a rising vote of thanks by the audience for all that she has done for the league. The minutes of the last meeting were read and Mrs. Kelly, treasurer, gave her report for the past year.

The league hopes to accomplish much during the coming year and will take action and discuss matters of importance pertaining to the city and especially the third ward. Every resident of N. E. Brainerd is welcome to attend and take part in the meetings and visitors from other wards are always cordially invited.

The first number on the program which preceded the business session was presented by the Teenie Wendt, three darkies who were the Misses Irene Peterson, Charlotte Kaatz and Catherine Jones. The number was very much enjoyed.

Roger Callahan gave a recitation, "When Father Played Baseball," and Robert Crust Jr. sang a solo, "Wish Mother Had A Girl," both of which were well rendered.

E. H. Rhodes spoke on forestry, tracing the industry from its founding in the United States. Minnesota at present is shipping in 65 percent of its lumber at a freight charge of $16 to $18 per 1,000 feet. Forest fires are one of the greatest menaces to humanity and lake levels have been greatly lowered because of fires, drainage and the cutting of timber.

Although great strides have been made in forest conservation in the past 50 years the present laws regulating the cutting of timber still have room for improvement as Belgium and France have a much more economical method of cutting timber. The United States has 179 National forests, 19 national parks and 10 military forests. Minnesota has two national forests, one at Ely and the other at Cass Lake.

The Lions quartet composed of L. F. Hough, Harry Fullerton, Dr. Anderson, R. L. Geist rendered selections and Mrs. H. Herbert gave "The Purple Bean."

The president will announce his committee appointments in the near future.

Outdoor Club Stays Indoors When Mercury Falls to Low Record of 39 Degrees Below

35 BELOW AT 8 A. M.

Ten Long Distance Wires Snapped by Cold; Were Repaired This Morning

The Outdoor club stayed indoors, dad got on his red undies, brother put on his stocking cap and the city vied with The Pas, great mushing post of northern Canada, considered the coldest spot on the map in North America, when the old weather boy gave the city the lowest temperature of the season last night.

The mercury went way down, down, down to 39 degrees below zero last night and it had half a notion to go even farther. Even at 8 o'clock this morning the thermometer recorded the low temperature of 35 degrees below zero.

Ten long distance telephone lines snapped last evening on account of the cold weather. It was reported this morning by officials of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. here. Fortunately however the long distance lines to Minneapolis were not affected. The snapped lines include three to Duluth, one to Fargo, one to Wadena, two to Crosby, two to Atkin, and one to Little Falls. The wires were repaired this morning.

Trains and buses are running a little behind schedule today.

Minnesota and International railway at 5 a. m. today recorded temperatures at Walker, of 33 degrees below; Bemidji at 34 degrees below and International Falls, 39 degrees below zero.

IMPROVEMENT LEAGUE MEETING

Albert O. Anderson Named President Northeast Brainerd League for Ensuing Year

HUGO A. KAATZ, SECRETARY

A Program Arranged by Mrs. Herbert Given Before Business Session

At the regular meeting of the Northeast Improvement League held last night at the Lowell school the following officers were elected to serve for the coming year:

President—Albert O. Anderson.
Vice President—Peter Dryburgh.
Secretary—Hugo A. Kaatz.
Treasurer—Mrs. F. M. Kelly.

Elected members of the executive committee—Oscar Swanson, Dan Chord.

It is interesting to note that Mr. Kaatz has been re-elected every year since the founding of the organization. Mrs. J. H. Herbert, the retiring president thanked all those who have so ably assisted her in the two years that she served and was given a rising vote of thanks by the audience for all that she has done for the league. The minutes of the last meeting were read and Mrs. Kelly, treasurer, gave her report for the past year.

The league hopes to accomplish much during the coming year and will take action and discuss matters of importance pertaining to the city and especially the third ward. Every resident of N. E. Brainerd is welcome to attend and take part in the meetings and visitors from other wards are always cordially invited.

The first number on the program which preceded the business session was presented by the Teenie Wendes, three dorkies who were the Misses Irene Peterson, Charlotte Kaatz and Catherine Jones. The number was very much enjoyed.

Roger Callahan gave a recitation, "When Father Played Baseball," and Robert Crust Jr. sang a solo, "Wish Mother Had A Girl," both of which were well rendered.

E. H. Rhodes spoke on forestry, tracing the industry from its founding in the United States. Minnesota at present is shipping in 65 percent of its lumber at a freight charge of $16 to $18 per 1,000 feet. Forest fires are one of the greatest menaces to humanity and lake levels have been greatly lowered because of fires, drainage and the cutting of timber.

Although great strides have been made in forest conservation in the past 50 years the present laws regulating the cutting of timber still leave room for improvement as Belgium and France have a much more economical method of cutting timber. The United States has 179 National forests, 19 national parks and 10 military forests. Minnesota has two national forests, one at Ely and the other at Cass Lake.

The Lions quartet composed of L. F. Hough, Harry Fullerton, Dr. Anderson, R. L. Geist rendered selections and Mrs. J. H. Herbert gave "The Purple Bean."

The president will announce his committee appointments in the near future.

Outdoor Club Stays Indoors When Mercury Falls to Low Record of 39 Degrees Below

35 BELOW AT 8 A. M.

Ten Long Distance Wires Snapped by Cold; Were Repaired This Morning

The Outdoor club stayed indoors, dad got on his red undies, brother put on his stocking cap and the city vied with The Pas, great mushing post of northern Canada, considered the coldest spot on the map in North America, when the old weather boy gave the city the lowest temperature of the season last night.

The mercury went way down, down, down to 39 degrees below zero last night and it had half a notion to go even farther. Even at 8 o'clock this morning the thermometer recorded the low temperature of 35 degrees below zero.

Ten long distance telephone lines snapped last evening on account of the cold weather it was reported this morning by officials of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co. here. Fortunately however the long distance lines to Minneapolis were not affected. The snapped lines include three to Duluth, one to Fargo, one to Wadena, two to Crosby, two to Aitkin, and one to Little Falls. The wires were repaired this morning.

Trains and buses are running a little behind schedule today.

Minnesota and International railway at 5 a. m. today recorded temperatures at Walker, of 33 degrees below; Bemidji at 34 degrees below and International Falls, 39 degrees below zero.
